LET THE MAIL BEGIN!

Now it's time for my favorite part of CARTOON NETWORK BLOCK PARTY, where I get to show off the letters and drawings you kids and dudes have sent in.

A lot of you have invented your own Powerpuff Girls with their own new names and powers. Anna W. from Bellingham, Washington sent in Deviel, Butterscotch, and Carmel. You may not be able to see everything in the drawing (you need to draw BIG) but these girls have the ultimate in accessories, including party dresses, swim suits, makeup, and pets! I guess they get a bigger allowance than Blossom, Bubbles, and Buttercup!

DRAWING BY ANNA W.

Dear Johnny DC,

I have just begun reading your magazine and must say I am highly impressed. This is the best comic I have read in years. In the future, I would really enjoy more ED, EDD 'N EDDY, CAMP LAZLO, and THE GRIM ADVENTURES OF BILLY AND MANDY. Even better, I would like to see my two favorite characters, Cheese and Fred Fredburger. In conclusion, this is a completely awesome comic.

Joshua McCoy, age 10
Dallas, Georgia

You have VERY good taste in comics magazines, Joshua. Just because you requested it, we will feature more stories of the Eds, Lazlo, and Grim. I hope you enjoyed Cheese in the FOSTER'S HOME FOR IMAGINARY FRIENDS story last issue. But Fred Fredburger...do we really have to?
— Johnny DC

DRAWING BY JOSHUA McCOY

Dear Johnny DC,

I recently went to FallCon - the comic book convention at the Minnesota State Fairgrounds education building. Terrance Griep signed SCOOBY-DOO #100. I also met the Moy brothers, and even saw the Batmobile. I wish all of my pictures had turned out.

Allen Klingelhoets
Barron, Wisconsin

Well, I'm glad your picture of Phil and Jeffrey Moy turned out. Not everyone may know that both brothers have done art for DC Comics. Phil has drawn many POWERPUFF GIRLS stories, including some great covers, back when the Girls had their own comic book!
— Johnny DC

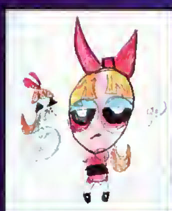

MOY BROTHERS

Dear Powerpuff Girls,

I would like to know what your best friend is, or your fave stuffed animal or doll.

Florence Lillo
New Haven, Connecticut

The sisters' best friends are each other. Bubbles' favorite stuffed animal is Octi, the stuffed octopus. Well, once he turned into a monster and attacked the city, but usually he's her favorite.
— Johnny DC

DRAWING BY FLORENCE LILLO

Dear Authors,

We are wondering if the lessons that the Powerpuff Girls stories teach are good for kids. We think that there's too much fighting and negative attitudes.

Best wishes,
Isabel Vitkin, age 7
Toronto, Ontario

That's a serious question, Isabel. Well, yes, I think the Powerpuffs' stories are about good things — teamwork, fantasy, and standing up for yourself. I don't think it would be a good idea to read ONLY stories about beating up monsters, but I don't think it would be a good idea to read only history or recipes, either. People should read a variety of things.
